

Biography

Damian Day

Damian Day is Head of Accreditation at the Royal Pharmaceutical Society of Great Britain. His work includes the accreditation of pharmacy courses leading to registration and annotations to the Society's two registers. Additionally he is a member of the core team implementing the Society's education reform programme, Fit for the Future. Previously he has worked as a university lecturer/manager and educational developer. He has worked for the Quality Assurance Agency as a subject reviewer and institutional auditor and has been invited by the Agency to advise them on education issues related to regulation. He has worked on educational development and institutional governance projects for UNESCO and for the International Baccalaureate as an assessor.